

Project Summary:

An Immersive VR experience about OCD that strives to overcome the issue of lack of empathy that manifests when people do not have the chance to “walk in someone’s shoes”. The experience achieves this by allowing users to go through a sample of the life experience of someone who suffers from an OCD disorder and helps them reflect and foster empathy for such people.